HIGH SCHOOL IS GIVEN A HIGH RATING

A. C. Wheat, Assistant
County Superintendent
Visits Here

HE IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Perfect Harmony Found on Trip of Inspection

A. C. Wheat, assistant county superintendent of schools, concluded his official visit to Glendale high school Tuesday and is elated over the conditions found here. "I am absolutely enthusiastic over the conditions as I found them in Glendale high school," said Mr. Wheat. "I say with all sincerity and I believe I am telling the absolute truth when I say that Glendale has one of the finest high schools in this country. That is a broad statement, but from my observation during the past few years I believe this absolutely to be true. Glendale had the advantage over some of the schools in the eastern part of the country in that it never had any old-fashioned notions to change and nothing of that kind to live down.

"The spirit that is shown in the Glendale high is excellent. The spirit of the pupil to the teacher and the teacher to the pupil cannot be surpassed anywhere. I find that when in class there is practically no other noise than the teacher and the pupil that is reciting. In practically all the rooms the only noise to be heard is the ticking of the clock. The condition exists in a greater degree, if possible, in the study periods.

"The attitude of the pupil to the teacher and to his or her studies is

SLOGAN CAMPAIGN BRINGS OUT MANY SUGGESTIONS

Chairman Wilson Says
He Has Never Seen
Such Interest

The campaign for a slogan now being conducted by the Glendale chamber of commerce, is progressing favorably. The only thing wrong with this campaign is that it is keeping the committee working night and day to keep up with the work of opening the letters and extracting the slogans created by the budding "sloganters" of Glendale.

L. H. Wilson, chairman of the publicity committee of the chamber, says he has never seen anything like the way the people of the valley are responding to this call for a slogan. Every mail brings a dozen or more slogans. Many are right to the point and give, in a few words, an expression which, if sent broadcast by Glendale residents, would do a great deal toward increasing the population of this city.

Following are a few of the slogans sent in during the past few days:

Grow and Gain Is Our Aim—Glendale.

Health and Wealth the Pivot of Glendale.

Glendale Is Not Better Than the Rest, But Is Better Than the Best.

Unity, Opportunity, Glendale.

Glendale, the Biggest Smile on the Face of the Earth.

Glendale, to Go, to See, Means to Stay.

Glendale, Paradise's Only Rival.

Friendship Is Free in Glendale.

To Come Is to Stay in Glendale.

Glendale, the City of No Regrets.

Glendale, the City With a Future.

Glendale, Where Hearts and Homes Are Happiest.

Glendale, Where Every Prospect Pleases.

Glendale, the Gold Mine Without a Gamble.

Glendale Winning on the Home Stretch.

Glendale Eventually—Why Not Now?

Glendale—Active and Attractive.

Glendale Last—Why Not First?

You Will Some Day—Why Not Now—Glendale.

Get Going in Growing Glendale.

THREE CORNERED FIGHT GOES ON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Powerful forces were at work today to prevent the agricultural conference from going on record in favor of Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals project. The St. Lawrence river canalization project and the farm bloc. Fertilizer and other big interests are opposing Ford; New York, New England and other Atlantic coast states are fighting the St. Lawrence project, and administration forces are laboring against the farm bloc.

Says Bandit Queen Is an Innovation of Fiction—That's All

The bandit queen is the invention of fiction. This is from an editorial in this paper this evening, and the editorial goes on to tell why she is an invention.

A candy salesman in Los Angeles. "This is food for Henry James' comment this evening. "By and large," an expression used by literary fellows and orators that means little. This is the start of James W. Foley's column in "The Listening Post" this evening.

"My wife says I am a positive social drawback." This is John Pilgrim's opening sentence tonight in "Watching the Parade."

With this army of subjects don't you think that the editorial page is worth a glance this evening? We want you to take that glance and to become a regular reader because we know that men of intelligence and remarkable ability contribute to that page. Read and digest it, it's worth it.

BEING DIFFERENT IS PLAN OF GIRL IN ODD CASE

Millionaire Gives Up
Wife and Babe to Help
Girls on Farm

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—Lillian Conrad, for love of whom Charles Garland, young millionaire philosopher, is alleged to have given up his wife and baby, today is in the home of the Tide Over league here. Garland searched Boston for the girl, formerly his mother's secretary, Miss Doris Benson, at Amherst, Mass., told of some of Garland's plans for founding a colony on April farm, his stony piece of land near North Carver, Mass.

Garland, who has already distinguished himself by refusing and then accepting an inheritance of $1,000,000, is not a follower of Tolstol, Miss Benson said. She said Garland's ideas are just Garland's. The girl, who is just 21, is a student at Massachusetts Agricultural college, where she is preparing to become one of Garland's farm colonists. Miss Conrad also will be one of the colonists, Miss Benson said she believed.

The colonists will work the farm and help each other to solve the problems of life. The experiment may start in the spring. So far as she is concerned, Miss Benson insisted, there is nothing romantic about the affair.

ARBUCKLE WILL NOT TAKE STAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—A speedy conclusion of the case of Roscoe Arbutle is looked for with the report today that Arbutle's attorneys have decided not to put him on the stand in his own defense. The prosecution admittedly obtained permission to read Arbutle's testimony at the first trial to the present jury in order to reduce the effect that his personality or manner of testifying might have should he take the stand.

MADE WIFE FASTE TO CURE RHEUMATISM

MADISON, Ind., Jan. 25.—William Roche, in jail here on charges of forcing his wife to fast for fifty-one days to cure rheumatism, today practiced what he preached.

Roche has refused to touch food since he was arrested. Mrs. Roche, now unconscious and blind, declared she was told to fast by her husband so that her rheumatism and stomach trouble would be cured.

Roche, interviewed by the United Press in his cell today, said:

"If she dies, I'll follow her. I'll never take a bite to eat until she gets well. I'm going to show the public I can take my own medicine."

WILL PROCEED ON NEW HOTEL SAYS R. M. FERGUSON

Declares Outside Capital
Being Secured, Work to Resume

The Ambrosini hotel, to be located at the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue is assured, R. M. Ferguson, representing the group of capitalists who have taken over the work of erecting the building assured the directors of the chamber of commerce at their meeting Tuesday that the hotel will be rushed to completion.

Mr. Ferguson said the hotel of which Glendalians have dreamed for so long is now an assured thing. The promoters want the co-operation of the Glendale people in completing the work of erecting the building, he said.

"More automobiles pass the corner where the new hotel will be located during the day than any other point in the city. This is not my word but the word of one of the prominent Glendale bankers who has taken a check of the number of automobiles passing this and other corners," said Mr. Ferguson. "There are enough people who come to Glendale and want to stay to fill two hotels like the one proposed for the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway."

Prospective investors and those who have already invested here, visit Glendale every day and are forced to leave in the evening to seek quarters in some other city because there is no accommodations for them here. Every man that has business in Glendale and is forced to leave the city has made no effort to entertain the prospective property owner and business man."

Mr. Ferguson said that outside investors are becoming interested in the Glendale hotel project to the extent that they are offering to purchase stock. On Monday, according to Mr. Ferguson, a Los Angeles business man talked with him and intimated that he would purchase a block of stock in the new company. Ferguson said that the deal will involve several thousand dollars. In concluding his talk Mr. Ferguson said:

"Glendalians must stop the present system of Brand boulevard property owners opposing projects proposed for Glendale avenue and vice versa. There is need for expansion in both directions and this expansion will come. Glendale will not have room to care for the people who will settle here in the next 10 years."

Work on the new hotel will be resumed at once. A tower will be erected immediately to be used in distributing material and a force of men started to work. Mr. Ferguson asked the chamber of commerce directors to endorse the company's plan to sell stock in the new hotel here in Glendale and the matter was referred to the hotel committee.

LIQUOR WAS OF HIGHEST POWER

Two Mexicans, Cruz Lopez and Manuel Uribe, of San Fernando, were arrested Tuesday by Officers Collins and Trautwein on the charge of transporting liquor. They were sent to Los Angeles in charge of federal authorities. Glendale police believe they saved the lives of the two Mexicans by placing them under arrest. Some of the liquor the men had splashed on the coat sleeve of Sanitary Inspector Hollenbeck and it took the color from the spot on his coat, and a few drops splashed on a chair in police headquarters and removed the varnish faster than it could be done by using varnish remover.

After one song, which was sung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne" and dedicated to Mayor Spencer Robinson, the mayor arose and said that he and Mrs. Robinson, in acknowledgment, would sing the last verse of the real "Auld Lang Syne" which they did most beautifully and finished amid tremendous applause.

Another song set to the tune, "Charming Billie" concerned Charming Jimmie (Rhoades). He was called upon for a speech but

WOULD HAVE RAIL BOARD ELECTIVE

G. W. Whitman Tells
Chamber Directors
Route to Relief

G. W. Whitman, representing the chambers of commerce of Southern California, addressed the board of directors of the Glendale chamber Tuesday on the recently increased fares of the Pacific Electric, and asked that the chamber cooperate with the other organizations in an attempt to make the railroad commission an elective body and subject to the recall.

Mr. Whitman stated that the body represented by himself believed that abolishing the railroad commission and putting the roads of the state under a board of control made up of representatives from each county would not improve the situation. He said the railroad commission could not be removed by recall or by the governor without resorting to the courts. Actions such as granting the latest increase in fares over the Pacific Electric, while apparently in direct opposition to the will of the people, can only be protested, with no reasonable hope of having the protest heeded.

By making the commissioners subject to recall, the members of the commission would hesitate to take action that would be contrary to the will of the people, in favor of the corporations.

V. M. Hollister, president of the chamber of commerce, instructed Mr. Whitman to embody the wishes of the group that he represents in the form of a motion and present it to the board of directors at their next meeting on Tuesday, and that they will act on it at that time.

SEEKS DAMAGES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Alice L. Huxley today sought $51,800 damages from the Pacific Electric railway for injuries alleged to have resulted from the collision of an interurban car with a machine driven by her husband.

WENT IN FIRE TO GET "MY BABY"

BEND, Ore., Jan. 25.—"My baby, oh, my baby! Save my baby," shrieked a woman fighting with friends, who restrained her from entering her burning home. Jack Gagen, soda water manufacturer, dashed into the house's furnace-like interior.

"Where is your baby?" he yelled above the snapping of the embers.

"On the wall, my baby's picture," the frantic woman chanted back. Gagen emerged in a blue haze—without the picture.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS BUSY MEETING ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Members Take Up Numerous Matters of Interest to Schools

At the meeting of the board of education held Tuesday night at the Intermediate, Dr. J. E. Eckles and Miss Barlow of the city health department were present and urged the employment of a nurse by the city schools. The superintendent was instructed to get information from other school districts on the subject and report at the next meeting.

The plan for the Grand View school building, including four classrooms, lavatories and offices, was approved and publication of notice was ordered so that bids may be opened on Thursday, February 16, at 8 o'clock p. m.

The board authorized the use of motion picture machines for classroom work providing the operator shall be not less than 18 years of age and understand the operation of the machine. Reels shall not be changed in the schoolroom. The superintendent was instructed to insure the motion picture machine belonging to the Cerritos avenue school for $200 against fire and theft.

The building committee recommended the installation of a gas radiator in the manual training room at the Intermediate school; providing more light in the fifth grade room at the Colorado street school by installing transoms along the west side of the room and having the palm tree trimmed; and the purchase of additional fire extinguishers; and further, that at the time the bids are received on the Grand View building the committee of nineteen be called into consultation with the board and the matter of the building program.

The recommendations of the committee were adopted by the board except that the superintendent was instructed to get additional information on fire extinguishers. The superintendent was instructed to get further information as to the Junior Red Cross in other school districts. The rule of the board that the list of teachers shall not be given out for any advertising purposes was reaffirmed and the question of purchasing sewing machines for the Colorado school was laid over to the next meeting.

The matter of heating in the new school buildings was discussed but no conclusion reached. The superintendent was instructed to invite the Potter Gas Radiator representative to be present at the next meeting of the board on January 31 and to invite architects to be present at that time also.

An invitation to attend the Boy Scout banquet on Friday evening was received by the board and placed on file, while the members expressed their desire to attend. A placed on file from the board of education of Los Angeles, relative to the possible opening of a school building in the Atwater tract next September.

ROBBED BARN AS OWNERS VISIT

Thieves broke into and robbed the barn of L. C. Rice on the southeast corner of Central avenue and Los Feliz road of a quantity of canned fruit, nuts and other articles, to the value of $50. Mrs. Rice reported the robbery to the police, and said that she did not know when the robbery occurred as the family has been away the past three weeks.

THIEVES TAKE BIG HAUL OF SMOKES

Thieves entered a lunch counter on Los Feliz road Tuesday night and took the entire stock of cigars, cigarettes, tobacco and candy, as well as a quantity of clothing. It is the belief of the police department that the robbery was committed by hobos. As the robbery occurred outside of the jurisdiction of the Glendale police, over the Los Angeles line, no action can be taken, but all officers are instructed to keep a watch for the stolen articles.

CITY OFFICIALS IN LOS ANGELES TO MAKE PROTEST

City Manager to Make Violent Protest at Meet Today

City Manager W. H. Reeves, Mayor Robinson, City Attorney Woodward, Dr. Jessie A. Russell and members of the city council who attended the hearing before the railroad commission in the matter of increased fares over the Pacific Electric lines were disappointed in that they were not given an opportunity to testify. They have to appear before the commission again today. Long Beach was heard yesterday and the delegation from Glendale gleaned several additional points from the testimony of that body to use when Glendale representatives tell their story.

Harley W. Brundage, president of the commission read a long statement about the increased fares.

In an informal interview with Mayor Robinson and City Manager Reeves, Chester H. Rowell, a member of the commission said that the rate question was either a moral or an intellectual question and explained why such was the case. He was interrupted by City Manager Reeves who said that the rate question was neither a moral or an intellectual question but a plain business proposition.

Mr. Reeves indicated that if permitted to testify he will use a letter from Mr. Brundage to J. F. McClish of Glendale written in response to a question regarding the operation of the buses in Glendale by the Pacific Electric. When A. A. Smith, general passenger agent of the Pacific Electric asked the city council of Glendale for permission to operate such a bus line in Glendale he stated that while the line was really owned by the Pacific Electric, it would be operated under the name of the

DANGER IS LURKING AT RESERVOIR

In Case of Big Storm
West Wall Would Be Washed Out

CHANNEL IS FILLED

Ordinance to Compel Removal of Sand Is Being Passed

Glendale's $60,800 reservoir is in danger. There are few who realize that if another real old-time California flood should come (which is a possibility) the flood waters of Verdugo canyon may carry away the bank of sand located just above the reservoir and undermine its west wall.

In the first place, the reservoir would be badly damaged and it would probably cost thousands of dollars and take several weeks to repair the damage. This expense would depend entirely on the amount of damage done. It is possible, if a real flood comes, such as Glendale experienced about ten years ago, that a big portion of the reservoir might be destroyed, for when Verdugo canyon flood water starts its destructive work there is no telling where the damage will end.

Then, too, there are several million gallons of water in the reservoir. In the event of a break, this would be a total loss. In addition to the loss of water, the supply of Glendale's water would be badly crippled, and it would be a long time before the situation could be relieved.

Greater than this comes the danger that would be done by the water from the reservoir. At that time the flood waters would be very high, so high, in fact, that it would

MANUFACTURER IS LOOKING AT SITE IN THIS CITY

Roof and Floor Tile Plant
May Be Located in Glendale

A roof and floor tile manufacturing plant may establish itself in Glendale in the near future. If plans of R. M. Ferguson of the Ambrosini Hotel company are fulfilled, this was indicated at the meeting of commerce directors' meeting and luncheon, Tuesday.

Mr. Ferguson declared that he is in communication with a capitalist who is planning to build and operate such a manufacturing plant in Southern California. He said that the capitalist visited Glendale and, while he was favorably impressed with this city as a site for the factory, he has not definitely decided to locate here.

A request was made that Secretary Rhoades and the industrial committee be instructed to meet this capitalist on his next visit and accompany him to the site that has tentatively been chosen as a location for the factory.

The board voted to make another trip to inspect high schools in Long Beach and Los Angeles in the near future and adjourned without taking up any further business.

More than 225 cases of "flu" and pneumonia were reported to the health authorities in the last 24 hours while physicians' reports were expected to add to the total today. Copeland blames the housing situation for the prevalence of the disease.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

WHO BARKED ON TROUBLE'S TRAIL

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

Malty Kitten's tail was hardly turned on Dr. Muskrat's Pond before things began to happen. First the red dog's master strode around the end of the Quail's Thicket. You remember he was carrying his gun. He whistled a few more times and then he fired, up into the air. Sometimes a runaway dog will come for that when he won't come for whistling, 'cause he thinks there's some hunting going on and he wants to be in the fun.

But not the red dog. He cowered still closer in his little dark snugery beneath the evergreens.

The hunter walked all round the pond looking for footprints. He saw Nibble Rabbit's, where he came down to drink, and Dr. Muskrat's on the flat stone, and the big sprawly ones of Tommy Peele's dog, Watch, who sat at the end of them, under Tad Coon's tree, growling at him. And he saw

And With That He Pointed His Gun at Watch

where Malty Kitten had galloped off, but he knew they were only cat tracks and no hunter would think of following them!

Nobody was there except Watch and the man. Watch didn't say anything with his growl, but his eyes talked for him. Plainly enough, too, so there wasn't any doubt in the world of what they were meaning. "You don't belong here. Not with that gun. If Tommy Peele's dad catches you there'll sure be ructions. I don't know whether I'd better go and call him or whether I'd better run you off the way I did the last time."

"Get out o' here!" That wasn't all the man said; he swore. Watch just sort of smiled to himself. When a dog snarls the others say it's "barking on trouble's trail." And swearing and snarling are much the same. He never dreamed anything worse might happen.

But it did. "You ugly brute!" roared the man. "My dog is somewhere on this farm; I know it is. Your owner has hidden it. Well, I'll just show him I can get his if I can't get my own!" And with that he pointed his gun at Watch.

The old dog knew better than to run; he dodged behind Tad Coon's tree. And that's the way they stood when Tommy Peele's Dad, with Tommy and Louie at his heels, came around the corner of the Quail's Thicket. He had caught that man! "Drop your gun," the farmer didn't even shout. He just spoke in a hard voice that made even old Watch cringe where he stood with the tree between them. It made the hunter look like an old tomcat when he's caught sucking eggs in a hen's nest.

PEOPLE DESTROY VALUABLE TREES

Went to Park on Sunday and Took Away Loads.

streets. When announcement that the trees were to be given away free this week and that a man would be on duty in the park starting Monday morning to take the names of people taking more trees than were required for the parkways in front of their houses, many people visited the park Sunday before the forester was on the ground and according to Frank Mark, building inspector much damage was done to the young trees.

Mark says there were people who took away as high as two machine loads of the young trees and in addition ruined many others through carelessness in removing them from the ground and by driving over them with automobiles. Mark called the attention of the police department to the matter and a patrolman was sent to the park to regulate the removal of trees and to keep a check on them.

Miss Zella Keim, of 342 West California avenue, who has been ill since New Year's, is able to be up and around now.

Mrs. A. H. Koverman of 915 East Lomita avenue spent Sunday with friends in Pasadena.

RIP VAN WINKLE AT GLENDALE NOW

One of the most charming screen ingenues today is Daisy Robinson, who was last seen to such great advantage in "Partners of the Tide." When Director Ward Lascelle arranged to picture "Rip Van Winkle," he was gratified to learn that Miss Robinson had appeared as "Meenie" in support of Thomas Jefferson in the stage version of Washington Irving's immortal classic. This meant that she had the proper understanding of the role and with her previous screen training she was indeed a wonderful find. And so Mr. Lascelle engaged her immediately, and her blonde beauty and histrionic talents were never seen to greater advantage than in the screen version of this marvelous old story, which is at the Glendale theatre today.

JAMES M. COX TO BREAK SILENCE

DAYTON, O., Jan. 25.—The keynote of a new political campaign will be sounded here tonight when James M. Cox, Democratic candidate in the last presidential election, breaks his silence of a year. Cox will discuss national and international issues before hundreds of Democrats at a belated Jackson day banquet here tonight.

SIX MONTHS SHOWS GREAT GROWTH AT RESEARCH

Fine Hospital Has Every Modern Convenience for Public

After six months of unusually successful operation, those in charge of the Glendale Research hospital say that business is very satisfactory. The six-month anniversary of this institution was celebrated on January 1. Thus far, the hospital has been a success, and prospects for a continuation of success are bright.

During a recent reorganization of the management of this institution, Mrs. G. E. Griffith, who, during the past few years has been in charge of one of the largest hospitals of Los Angeles, took over complete control. It is Mrs. Griffith's aim and ambition to make this one of the best hospital organizations in Southern California.

The Glendale Research hospital is complete in every detail. The laboratory is conducted by the Grant-Wilson laboratories of Los Angeles, and the X-ray department is in charge of the Dr. Avey laboratories of Los Angeles. Twelve graduate nurses are employed and a staff of six consulting physicians and surgeons, whose services are available at all times for clinical purposes, free of charge. Patients entering this hospital are at liberty to select any physician desired. A case record system of every patient entering this hospital is kept, and will be preserved. This system is being adopted by the largest hospitals in the country.

The Glendale Research hospital group comprises five units. There is a main hospital building, where the laboratories, operating rooms, patients' rooms, etc., are located. There is a nurses' building, and also three buildings for the domestic help, the kitchen, etc. All of the buildings are fireproof, and the rooms are well lighted, ventilated, and strictly modern in every sense of the word.

BUSINESS WOMEN HAVE RECEPTION

excused himself by declaring that the mayor had promised to speak for him.

Thus challenged, the mayor, in pretended embarrassment over addressing so many women "all earning their own living," said in effect that this is woman's day. In olden times the man was the head of his house but now, "in my own home, for example, the only member of the household I have a chance to boss is Tigie. It is the day woman decides and man acquiesces, and it isn't so bad after all."

Mr. Rhoades then thanked "His Honor" and in reviewing the benefits which the Citizens' building company had heaped upon Glendale in constructing the building, especially the banquet hall, mentioned as a special benefit that it had developed an orator in the person of the mayor.

Club members then yelled in chorus: "We want Mr. Hollister to stand up."

Mr. Hollister then stood up and expressed his pleasure in the occasion on his own behalf and that of the chamber of commerce of which he is the president. He complimented the club and predicted all kinds of success.

The same call was given Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, who gave greetings and congratulations on behalf of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, next responded to call and was followed by Mrs. John Robert White, president of the Federation of Parent-Teachers' associations, Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president of the Thursday Afternoon club, Dr. Jessie Russell as the representative of many organizations, and D. Ripley Jackson, our first postmaster.

Mrs. Margaret Biggs, president of the hostess club, then briefly outlined the work of the organization, but four months old, which has organized gymnasium classes, established a rest room and lunch room, and is now looking to a special vocational and placement work. This last, she said, was the special object of the meeting and a work in which the club would ask for general co-operation. She then introduced the chairman of the occupational department, Mrs. George U. Moyse as the toastmistress of the evening.

On assuming her office, Mrs. Moyse said: "This is a proud moment. To have such backing from our mayor and from all these organizations is like a blessing to begin with."

She then explained the desire of the club to organize something which would help every business and professional woman in the community to find the right niche. Lloy Galpin, now president of the county federation of business women's clubs, was introduced as the woman who first had the idea of organizing the first business women's club.

Miss Galpin voiced her pleasure in bringing greetings from the county organization to its youngest member and referring to what Mayor Robinson had said about the women present who were earning their living, declared: "Women have always earned their living, but it falls to our generation to earn it in another way; to justify our lives by other forms of activity from those our mothers practiced. We are aiming (by vocational guidance) to prevent the over-lapping and under-lapping which means such tremendous waste."

Miss Jane Humphreys on behalf of the California State Federation of Business Women's clubs and as president of the County Women's Athletic club, also spoke a word of greeting and congratulation.

Professor Stonier of the University of Southern California, the chief speaker of the evening, was then introduced and congratulated the club on its vision, thus early in its career, in facing the question before the whole world of how to solve the unemployment problem.

The various countries of Europe, he declared, have long recognized it as something to be grappled with nationally and have established labor exchanges everywhere, but in America we have felt it to be an obligation resting on the individual alone. The individual must meet it in the best way he or she can and without national help except for brief periods, the national employment bureau at this time being reduced to a mere skeleton.

He referred to the abuses of private employment agencies which, as revealed in a senate investigation, were paying in 1913 $25,000,000 per year and betrayed both employee and employer. They are fundamentally wrong, he insisted, because owing to the policy on which they are operated they increase the labor turn-over at a time when the employer can least afford it, and they reap their profits from the class of people who can least afford to pay them.

He referred to efforts being made through the banding together of welfare associations in the big cities all over the country to meet the unemployment situation and how futile they have been because they have not begun at the bottom, as Glendale is proposing to do, with a survey of all the possibilities in the way of jobs, and all the possibilities in the way of labor, for the mutual benefit of employer and employee.

Said he, in speaking of general unemployment: "When a million men are thrown out of employment it means that the purchasing power of every man in that group is decreased $3 per day. Multiply that by each 20 working days in the month and you have $60,000,000. Multiply that by ten months and you have $600,000,000.

He spoke of the requirements of the work which the club considers undertaking and emphasized the importance of the right kind of a director, and the necessity for such a bureau to command the support of the community to achieve success, financial as well as moral backing. It must also, he said, have constantly the backing of the membership of the club, alive and alert to the importance of this work.

Said he: "As this city grows—as it will do, this problem of employment and unemployment is going to loom larger and larger and you men and women who are here tonight are going to make Glendale one of the best known cities in America, not because of its growth alone, but by the way you handle this problem of employment and placement."

Miss Winifred Hausam, head of vocational guidance work in Pasadena and Los Angeles county, made a clever and witty speech and told of what had been accomplished in two years in the Crown City. Now, she said, the community is alive to its value. During the first year of its work over 400 placements were made and during the second and last year over 700 were made and that on a falling labor market.

She was followed by Captain Conner of Pasadena, who endorsed all she had said of the work of the Pasadena bureau and its advantage to the city.

Toastmistress Moyse then referred to what the Glendale club had already accomplished in establishing its rest and lunch rooms as a rallying center for business women and stated that in its vocational work it will go slowly at first, beginning by opening its club rooms for the registry of unemployed women or of employers seeking help, at certain hours of the day, and later as the work grows, it will place in charge of the registry a competent director. Said she: "We will soon be able to do the thing our committee stands for, and remember, we depend on your help."

In the meantime there had been an interlude in which Mayor Robinson had introduced a graceful manner John Marquardt, Glendale's violin virtuoso and the mayor's personal friend. Mr. Marquardt had played most beautifully, with a wonderful piano accompaniment provided by Harry Girard, "Fantasie" from "Mignon" by Sarasate; "Hobgoblin" by St. Lubin; and "Liebestreu" by Kreisler, and had been overwhelmed with applause by the delighted audience.

On concluding her explanation of the club's program, Mrs. Moyse announced that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard would sing, and the announcement drew great applause. In due time Mrs. Marquardt, by Chaminade, then "Poppy" by Daddy Silverwolf, and in response to insistent demand for an encore gave "Mother," both words and music by Mr. Girard, and a very beautiful song.

Mrs. Moyse then called upon the president, Mrs. Biggs, for a last word. She thanked the guests for their response and co-operation and on behalf of the club bade them goodnight.

A SONG ON MILO WHEAT by T. W. McConnell

You ask me, friends; why really, now,
I haven't much to say;
But I am sure that Milo Wheat
Ate for the best today.
Now, some things let me speak about
That you may plainly see
What a fine once taste of MILO WHEAT
You'll need no other plea.
For folks who eat this food,
For strength, health and every ill.

It's best, we know today;
We're living now on MILO
Our bank account will show.
For we can have a good square meal
For three cents now, you know.
You know our days are perilous;
When all will have a taste,
And they will surely want to eat
The cheapest and the best.
It will not be so very long
Till you will hear the call
For MILO WHEAT from every class,
Both rich, poor, large and small.

Truths in Epigram

The world is

"BANDIT QUEENS"

As to bandit queens, one might recall the lecturer who announced that he would speak on the "Snakes of Ireland." He began his address by saying "There are no snakes in Ireland," and then passed on to whatever line of talk he had in mind. On in other words, there are no bandit queens. A young woman upon whom a gracious and impressionable reporter bestowed the title, is locked up in Los Angeles. It appears that she had been using a stolen automobile as her method of locomotion, and when captured was bedecked in stolen garments. Being a sneak thief, or even an adept at grand larceny or the beneficiary of these crimes, does not constitute a young woman a bandit queen. It has a tendency, on the contrary, to make of her a rather bedraggled jailbird.

The bandit queen is the invention of fiction. She cuts a dashing figure in the cheaper novel. Of course she is a person of really noble qualities, and shines forth in the final chapter a radiant example of virtue. In real life the so-called bandit queen is the associate of robbers, burglars and pickpockets. There is no shred of nobility about her. She is even lacking in nerve, the chances being that when it comes to a showdown she will weep her way to freedom, and seek the first opportunity of playing queen to another gang of thugs.

RELATIONS WITH MEXICO

That Mexico has not been recognized by the United States is very puzzling to Americans. Such recognition was asked months ago by officials of the border states, and by civic bodies of all the important cities, having intimate business dealings across the line. These are the precise elements that would have opposed recognition under the old regime.

Nearly as it is possible to judge, the Obregon administration is progressive, liberal and fair. It is laying great emphasis on the importance of education, and of bestowing upon the common people the justice that had been withheld from them under the iron rule of Diaz, and ever since that time, until the present. Mexico invites foreign capital, and promises generous treatment. Every utterance of the leading men of the Obregon government has been friendly towards the United States.

Doubtless it is unfortunate for Mexico that its cause should be urged by the Hearst papers. It is not stretching a point even a little to say that such championship is a handicap. Notwithstanding that the cause seems to be eminently just, the advocacy of Hearst cannot fail to arouse suspicion. This is to be regretted in this instance. The fact cannot be forgotten that the papers of this man only a short time ago were for intervening in Mexico, by actual war, if necessary. The motives then were questioned, and still are the motives bound to be questioned.

Despite this one unhappy element of support, Mexico presents an excellent case. It is orderly. It is being conducted with fine intelligence. It has vast potential wealth which it is anxious to develop. It is ambitious to be a nation among nations. The denial of its plea is not winning approval on either side the Rio Grande.

TO HELP PACIFIC SHIPPING

The plan of Herbert Fleishacker of San Francisco, for formation of a $30,000,000 steamship company has won wide approval. It has been endorsed by representatives of every port on this coast save Portland. The attitude of the Oregon city awaits definite explanation. As the port most handicapped by natural conditions, it may fear that the interests of the others might be permitted to overshadow it. If Portland desires to stand apart and alone, that, of course is its privilege.

Seattle, Tacoma, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, speaking through their leading shippers, are ready to back the project. The idea is to procure ships from the United States shipping board, these to be operated under private ownership. It is understood that the ships would be available, and that the board is favorable to the plan. The operators, representing all the ports, could not be led into favoring any one of them at the expense of the others. Self defense would make fair play inevitable.

A concern with $30,000,000 capital could do things on a large scale. It would have a great advantage over groups of smaller organizations, whose total of capitalization probably would be far less.

The time has come to develop a Pacific marine service on a big scale. The future must depend upon immediacy of action. The opportunity is too good to be lost. Business that readily might be established in the various ports, were the chance offered by the Orient to be seized, would mean prosperity to all the ports along the western coast. At least such is the expressed belief of experienced shipping men.

CHILD LABOR

The subject of child labor is attracting greater and greater interest, as its importance becomes impressed upon the public mind. It is a matter involving many considerations, including health, morals and economics.

It is to be regretted that children still of school age should be forced by circumstances to engage in gainful occupations. The world owes them better treatment, but the world does not always pay its debts. The child naturally has a right to play and to become decently educated. Deprived of such rights, the least society may do for the little one, is to protect its body from injury and illness, and its mind from ignorance.

There have been decided reforms in relation to child labor. No great industrial organization now has the undisputed right to grind boys and girls into dividends. Infant serfdom is so deprecated by common opinion, that there no longer is freedom on the part of any employer, to subject to it, the youngsters just emerging from babyhood.

But, much as has been done to mitigate conditions under which children labor, much remains to be done. Men and women do not lose sight of the duty that rests upon them in relation to this grave problem. A date has been fixed for a "Child Labor Day," or a series of such days. Observance will be in synagogues Saturday, January 28; in churches and Sunday schools, Sunday, January 29, and in schools and secular organizations, Monday, January 30.

People who gather at any of these assemblies would do well to have in thought the words of Herbert Hoover:

"Child labor day is important because it reminds us to consider the question of child labor as a national problem. Every child in the country who labors to the prejudice of health and education is a liability to the nation.

"It is infinitely better to prevent child labor and to compel and support the education of our children today, than to look after untrained, inefficient and unhealthy citizens tomorrow."

COMMERCIAL SPORTS

The fact comes to light that Purdue university has been seeking to procure football material from this coast. More correctly, the coach employed at that institution has offended in this manner, and for his indiscretion has lost his position.

It appears that he had offered young players, particularly of the northwest, $100 a month to become students at Purdue. This was carrying the spirit of commercialism to a point at which it could not be tolerated by any student body, and would turn the public against college sports.

When a student proves to be a good football player, the athletic element of the institution he attends naturally is pleased. Nevertheless the situation would lose all its glamor upon knowledge of the fact that the student was a student only by reason of his prowess on the gridiron, and was getting paid for his skill, at that.

The college student must be a real student, with some definite purpose of acquiring an education. His athletic ability, however high, necessarily is incidental and secondary. Neither must he play for wages.

When college sports fail to be kept at a high ethical plane they will fail altogether. Sport is one thing, and commercialism so absolutely another, that the dividing line is clear, and the attempt to efface it is a threat to the very life of college athletics.

A Pasadena housewife was astonished to observe that a man who begged at the door for a bite to eat, was wearing diamonds. Well, diamonds are not food.

Senator France announces himself as among those who will fight the four-power pact. This circumstance will strengthen the pact in the esteem of the public. France is the man who recently went to Russia and emerged so full of admiration for Lenin and the soviets as to be eager for any sort of an alliance with them.

DANGEROUS MR. PORTEJOIE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is a gentleman named Portejoie who is president of the "Union Fraternelle des Commis d'Ordre et d'Expeditionnaires des P. T. F.," which means The Fraternal Union of the Clerks and Other Employees of Public Transportation in France. He has loped into the limelight recently by proposing to the under-secretary of state, in France, a means of saving some seven million francs a year for the government.

His method is very simple. Really, as any friend of the workman will say, it is most outrageous and revolutionary. It is that every employee should be put in his proper place and all of them compelled to work.

In this he has been seconded by M. Cousty, president of another union with a name equally as long, who declares that Camarade Portejoie is right: "Put every man in his place and bounce the lazy ones."

We have been expecting some such thing as this. All other theories have not availed to account for governmental inefficiency. There have been laboring speeches showing how the exchange and the tariff and this and that complicated economic thing is what is causing the trouble, and at last Columbus comes along and shows us how to make the egg stand up.

All government is notoriously inefficient, but when it comes to elaborate methods of employing a half dozen men to do one man's work, the United States, compared with France, is still in its infancy.

One French newspaper gives the following instances:

In the office of foreign affairs, seventeen superior officers direct the work of twenty-four employees.

In the department of public works, in one branch of the service are six directors, chiefs, and sub-chiefs to only five workmen. This makes one and one-fifth bosses to every worker.

In the hydraulic department, there are five bosses to five employees, which is a little better. In the service of mines, there are five directors, superintendents and managers for six employees.

In the department of public instruction, there are, in the branch of Beaux Arts, twenty-one superior officers and sixty-two work people, or three and nineteen-hundredths employees to one boss. How the boss manages to get along with that nineteen-hundredth of an employee is a question.

Without wishing to seem reactionary or be called the tool of capitalism, we yet dare suggest that one solution of the labor problem might be labor.

Not all the fine spun theories in all the volumes of economics can alter the fact that laziness, incompetence and splintering are the greatest enemies not only of employers but of the employees themselves.

We might add that it would also be a good thing if the employer himself spent a little more time and energy on the job, and not quite so much time talking about it.

Having said these words the speaker ducked just in time.

THE LISTENING POST

The literary fellows and orators and expounders have an expression:
"By and large."
A kind of arbitrary expression.
Because it means little.
Except as meaning is read into it.

If you had for the first time dissected it out of its place in a written article or an address and looked at it, you might not know just what it meant.

And it has been used so often it has become, as we say, trite.
Or perhaps hackneyed would be better.

The writer of articles says:
"Taking everything by and large."
And the maker of addresses says:
"Considering the whole matter by and large."
And few articles or discussions or essays or addresses are complete without "by and large."

It means, we suggest, "taking everything into consideration."

And it is no clearer expression than that.
But when it was first said it had a kind of tang to it.

And tickled the mental palate.
So it has been on the table ever since.

It is difficult to point out just what peculiarity of a thing makes it last.

Ham and eggs for instance.
Who first associated them as a dish?

Who discovered that ham and eggs were gastronomic affinities?

For they seem to be.

We don't know what the calory sharks or the food experts or the dietitians say about them.

They may be scientifically and gastronomically and calorically wrong.

But popularly they go together.

Like a vaudeville team.

Then there are pork and beans.

Another case of the Damon and Pythias of the pot and pan.

Always together.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Simple Nature—By George John Romanes (1848-1894)

Be it not mine to steal the cultured flower
From any garden of the rich and great,
Nor seek with care, through many a weary hour,
Some novel form of wonder to create.
Enough for me the leafy woods to rove,
And gather simple cups of morning dew,
Or, in the fields and meadows that I love,

Find beauty in their bells of every hue.
Thus round my cottage floats a fragrant air,
And though the rustic plot be humbly laid,
Yet, like the lilies gladly growing there,
I have not toiled, but take what God has made,
My Lord Ambition passed, and smiled in scorn;
I plucked a rose, and, lo! it had no thorn.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

People in southern California have been shivering for lack of gas, at the same time that wells were blowing off enough of the stuff to warm the whole state.

"Kiss wife in public?" Such is a current question. Depends on whose wife she is, and the identity of the party of the other part.

Perhaps the barrels of "non-beverage" whisky shipped into Tia Juana is for rubbing the legs of race horses.

Orange growers of California should remember now that a big Georgia peach crop is always preceded by a report that frost has killed the fruit.

Having lived in fifteen hotels in the past three months a young woman is in trouble through not having paid her bill in any of them. At least she played no favorites.

Residents who escape being killed by automobiles perhaps do not always realize how grateful they ought to be.

A church census revealed the existence of fifty-nine styles of religion in Los Angeles, and a large number of people not working at any of them.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHEN IS A MERCHANTMAN?

[Cleveland Plain Dealer]

When the naval committee of the arms conference resumes discussion of the Root proposals for disposing of the troublesome submarine issue, the French delegation is expected to raise the question of what a merchant ship really is. Innumerable conflicts that arose between this country and Germany during the war indicate the need of such a definition.

It is not a sufficient answer to say that every one knows what a merchant ship is. Naval guns mounted on the decks, fore and aft, as was the practice of this country during the war, in the opinion of many who could not be charged with German leanings, went a considerable distance in the direction of converting peaceful merchantmen into auxiliary cruisers.

One of the common arguments for the development of a merchant marine in the United States in the years immediately preceding the war was that merchant ships of the proper type and construction could serve equally well as auxiliary cruisers or transports. Liners of the type that have lately been developed might well be employed effectively as commerce raiders or even carry guns "large enough to shell enemy ports."

The Root suggestion of forbidding submarine warfare against peaceful merchantmen thus makes it necessary to enter into some kind of an international understanding of one question: When does a merchantman cease to be a merchant-

Yet somebody must for the first time have associated them.

And there are peaches and cream and bread and butter and cakes and maple syrup and a lot of the affinities of the table.

And something about them made them stick. Just as some things in language have stuck. And we have "alpha and omega," "by and large," "in the last analysis."

And what we set out to say was that life can't be considered from a single experience.

Or day.

Or year.

And that no man can be judged from a single action.

Or great deed.

Or mistake.

We have to take life "by and large."

And we have to weigh the individual "by and large."

What one of us would care to be judged by the worst thing he ever did?

And what one of us would esteem it a fair judgment if he were judged by the best things he ever did?

For the best things and the worst things are the occasional things.

All of us may pull strongly sometimes.

And we may slack back in the traces sometimes.

It would be interesting to know when one of us is himself.

At worst?

At best?

When?

So we learn to take life "by and large."

And to reckon the day in the same manner.

And to weigh individuals by the same elastic process.

Life is not to be judged by a particular period of sorrow.

Or by one of high elation.

It has to be estimated "by and large."

JAMES W. FOLEY.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A dispatch from Chicago says that Big Tim Murphy has gained control of labor there. So far as this may be true, labor should revolt, and the whole city be ashamed.

HENRY JAMES

Murphy is now under sentence for conspiracy to rob the mails. The court gave him the limit sentence, knowing quite well that Murphy was getting a small part of what he deserved. He seems to have devised and directed the robbery. Some of the poor rubes he cajoled into doing the actual work were convicted of the robbery, and received sentences of twenty-five years, which they are serving. Of course, Murphy is not required to serve even the short term it was possible to give him.

That organized labor should permit a roughneck and criminal of the Murphy type to mix in its affairs in the smallest degree would do it a greater harm than an enemy from the outside could ever do.

It may be that the report is not true, but is circulated with intent to injure organized labor.

Thousands of people will regret the death of John Kendrick Bangs. He was a philosopher, using humor as the vehicle of his ideas. He never wrote a mean thing, nor did he indite the lightest paragraph without a definite purpose in view. His work was bright, clean, and wholesome. He was a man of strong friendships, a fine type of American and writer, who will be missed.

Detective Burns is telling now some of the secret plotting of war days. His revelations constitute very interesting reading. So far as the crookedness of diplomats from Bernstorff down, there is nothing very surprising about them, however.

They expose the treachery and double dealing of George Sylvester Vlietick very specifically, showing this unsavory fellow in such light as would greatly embarrass anybody not rotten to the core.

A native-born American who was a creature in the pay of Germany, also is dragged into publicity of an unenviable sort. This is William Bayard Hale, for a time a Hearst correspondent at Berlin, during which period he did his utmost to earn the salary the German government was paying him. The facts concerning Hale are not new. Notwithstanding his giving of aid and comfort to the enemy, his name is to be observed yet occasionally, signed as openly as though he was unaware that anything had happened to his reputation.

Two women whose names for years were familiar, have figured in the newspapers lately. Each was known to the stage, and each admirable, although in wholly different roles.

The former Lillian Russell, now Mrs. Moore, is in Europe on a mission for the government. She has been sent to study conditions there. It will be her particular duty to look into the subject of immigration, and inspect the would-be immigrants. She represents the department of labor.

For many years Lillian Russell was a favorite. She had high and varied gifts, among them beauty, and the power to delight with song. And one certain gift was her's most markedly. It was the secret of perpetual youth. Years passed over her with lightest touch. She simply declined to grow old. What did the calendar mean to her? Not a thing. She laughed it out of her way.

And Maude Adams has come back, not to the stage she honored, but to the public notice from which for several seasons she had escaped. Miss Adams was a credit to the theatrical world. Her ability as an actress won praise, as her fineness as a woman won sincere respect.

Miss Adams has donated a splendid estate to a certain order of Catholic sisters, although she is said not to be of the Catholic faith. She recognizes the goodness of the devoted sisters and generously increased their capacity for good.

There has been much discussion of ministerial salaries. Generally such debate has been marked by sorrow rather than by acrimony. The admission that the salaries are lamentably small is so general that there really is not much occasion for argument.

Recently two brothers got to talking on the theme. There is no record as to the manner in which their opinions clashed, but there was a clash and a fight. Their interest is not explained, as neither has the ministry in view as a calling.

One brother was chased from the house, and the mother, elderly and not strong, died as a result of the excitement, or of some violence that is yet to be accounted for to the court.

The salaries in question remain just where they were before the row started.

Many months have passed since Henry Ford made his bid for Muscle Shoals. The fact is evident that somebody does not want Ford to get the place.

A candy salesman of Los Angeles is in jail for "mashing." Very likely he tried to give the girl taffy.

There are few more annoying creatures than the mashers who may be observed on any city street.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

My wife says that I am a positive social drawback. She says that just when the conversation gets to going good—just as it gets bitter and interesting—some one is apt to glance at me:

"And there you sit," she declares, "exuding disapproval from every pore. It isn't any wonder that we do not have pleasant gossips in our house. Every one is afraid to say what he thinks in your presence."

Maybe she's right. There is no doubt that I regard talk as the chief evil of the age. For every man who has gained something by fluency I can name you half a dozen who have hurt themselves. If one could chat about something distant and impersonal, like the solar system or the cost of radium, no harm would be done. But most of us talk about ourselves or our neighbors. Both topics are charged with TNT.

I saw this truth brilliantly exemplified in the club car the other day. In the next chair sat an elderly man, who told his friend that he expected to meet a young man who was to get on at the next stop. He had decided to employ this young man as sales manager, he said. He had a good record, he was a hustler, his employers liked him. He was an up-and-coming go-getter.

"I've investigated him," said the elderly man, "and I like what I've heard. But I have never had a chance to talk with him before."

And at the next station the young man got on, and in the ensuing two hours he completely talked himself out of a job. I think the facts were probably just as he stated them. He looked as though he drew a good salary and that he could sell anything to a man who wanted to buy it. But he said too much. He put too much English on the ball. One could see that prospective employer slowly freeze. When he left the car at his station he said to the young man:

"Well, I have your address. I'll let you hear from me."

The young man will hear, all right—but what he hears will not please him. A little modesty, a little reticence, a little restraint, would have landed that job. It was all set and ready for him when he got aboard. If I were that young man I'd read the story of the parrot.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

A commercial pilot in England probably holds the world's record for the number of passengers carried. He recently carried his 10,000th, and one small machine has transported 8000 of these passengers.

The Eskimos did not choose their far northern home because they were fond of a cold climate. Not being of a warlike nature, they gradually worked as far north as human beings can exist in order to escape the raids of the more warlike Indian tribes.

Formerly the bases and sockets of incandescent lamps were made in hundreds of different sizes. At the present time, four sizes of base fit every socket in America, apart from lamps used on automobiles.

TUESDAY CLUB HAS PLANS FOR HOME

At the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club, the president, Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, reported that plans which have been tentatively submitted by Architect Alfred F. Priest for the proposed clubhouse embody all the suggestions which members have made relative to features desirable in such a clubhouse. They call, however, for an auditorium about the size of the Glendale theatre and other things in like proportion, and demand an expenditure of about $100,000 which she considers prohibitive inasmuch as it would saddle the club with a burden of $9000 a year for interest alone. The building committee, composed of the board of directors, past president and past chairmen of ways and means, she said, have asked Mr. Priest to submit another plan which would meet the immediate needs of the club and better fit its purse, and at the next meeting of the club, she hopes the tentative plan can be submitted for action by the organization. Meantime, she expressed the hope that members would be seriously thinking about the matter.

She announced that next Tuesday afternoon, the 31st, would be a social day, in charge of Mrs. H. B. Bartlett, and that the Loomis-Schuck Music company had kindly volunteered to provide the artists who would furnish the program.

She also announced that at the open forum meeting, the first Tuesday in February, the speaker will be Dr. E. C. Moore, president of the southern branch of the University of California, who will speak on the Pan-Pacific educational conference and its effect on present-day education. She made a strong plea for a good attendance as a courtesy to Mr. Moore.

Members were also urged to attend the boy scout banquet to be given Friday night, and to support the scout movement.

A number of applications for membership in the club were reported, and announcement was made that an evening program for the entertainment of husbands of club members would be given March 14, provided a suitable place could be secured.

Announcement was made of the benefit vaudeville entertainment to be given January 31 at the T. D. & L. theatre by the Pearl Keller school, for the fund to equip the kitchen of the Monte Vista home, which was pledged by Glendale.

The program of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Melba French Barr, with her mother, Mrs. Anna C. French, at the piano. Mrs. Barr is a beautiful young woman of versatile talents which are dominated by her dramatic powers. She sang, gave monologues and played the violin. The monologue "The White Silhouette" (Lent),

HARRIET VAN PELT, BRIDE OF WM. STADT

At a simple home wedding, Miss Harriet A. Van Pelt, daughter of Henry Van Pelt, 417 North Central avenue, and William H. Stadt, of 419 West Salem were united in marriage Tuesday morning.

The home was simply and prettily decorated for the occasion. Only relatives who reside in this vicinity were present as guests.

The double ring ceremony was used. The bride wore a very pretty gown of dark blue satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. Immediately after this the bride couple braved a storm of rice to start on an auto tour of the northern part of the state. On their return they will be at home in a little bungalow at 408 West Lexington drive.

GOOD BUSINESS IN ALASKA NOW

Governor Bone Says the Territory Is to Have Best Year

SEATTLE, Jan. 25.—"This will be the most prosperous business year for Alaska she has known," was the message brought to Seattle by Scott C. Bone, Alaska's new governor, en route to Washington, D. C., on his first trip to the capital in behalf of his territory.

"Alaska," said Governor Bone, "is becoming a territory of homes. It is no longer distinctly a man's country. Two things will make this Alaska's most memorable year—the visit of President Harding to the north and the completion of the government railroad. An improvement of 25 to 50 per cent in business and industrial conditions will be the showing for 1922."

HURRAY FOR G. O. P! WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Despite the continued and emphatic opposition of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who points out that without a soldier bonus the government confronts a deficit of $300,000,000 during the next two years, Republican senators and house leaders in a conference today made plans to speed up this measure.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS IN ALL-DAY MEET The First District, California Congress of Mothers, will hold an all-day conference in Martha Washington school, Club House avenue, Pasadena, Jan. 26th. The department of child labor, juvenile court, probation and education will be presented by able men and women of Southern California. Following is a list of speakers and their subjects:

"Part-time education in Los Angeles County," by Mrs. John W. Harverson, director of Child Welfare in Pasadena schools; "The importance of the First Six Years of Child Training," by Miss Ethel B. Waring, director of primary education, U. of C. southern branch; "Psychology of the Adolescent Period," by Miss Ethel F. Salisbury, U. of C. southern branch; Mrs. Florence Galentine, former president of the First District, will present the merits of the "Townsterling" bill. The musical program will be furnished by the Venice high school orchestra and community singers. Everybody is invited, but all presidents are urged to be present.

MRS. LEIGHTON GETS UNIQUE TRIFT

Mrs. E. W. Kinney and daughter, Mrs. Albert Leighton of 123 West Elk avenue, attended the opera, "Thais" this week at which time they personally met the prima donna, Miss Anna Fitzhugh.

Several days later in the mail Mrs. Leighton received an autographed picture of Miss Fitzhugh which read "to Mrs. Leighton, my double." It is true that Miss Fitzhugh and Mrs. Leighton bear much resemblance.

VETERAN DAUGHTERS MEET TUESDAY

The first meeting of the year of Mary Jane Gillette tent No. 13, Daughters of Veterans, was held Tuesday night in American Legion hall, 610 1/2 East Broadway, with the newly elected president, Mrs. Susie Peck, presiding. More than 75 per cent of the officers for 1922 were in attendance. Definite arrangements were made for a card party to be held at the hall February 23, the proceeds of which will be applied to the building fund of the Daughters' Memorial home at Sawtelle.

The Daughters' Sewing club, known as the Nimble Finger club, will renew its activities with a meeting at the home of Mrs. Dora Hall, 128 South Maryland avenue, Monday evening, February 6.

The business of this first meeting was principally devoted to organization work and the naming of committees for the ensuing year. President Mrs. Susie Peck has appointed the following committees: whom all such duties should be referred: Visiting and relief, Mrs. Agnes Richardson; Mrs. Martha Bowen and Mrs. Hattie Tiffany; floral, Mrs. J. V. Griffin; Mrs. Dora Hall; entertainment, Mrs. Queen Danner; Mrs. Pearl Moore; Mrs. Alma Dutton and Miss Audrey Hall; advisory board, Comrade C. R. Notron, Comrade Robert M. CITY TEACHERS' CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the City Teachers' club was held Tuesday afternoon at Intermediate, at which 20 minutes was devoted to business. The chief announcement of the session was the election of Miss Clara Midcal, past president of the club, to membership in the southern section of the state council of education, which meets several times a year in Sacramento. The southern section which has recently been furnished by the bridegroom and, with the addition of the many pretty and useful wedding presents received, will make a very cozy little home for the young couple.

Mrs. Stadt has been a resident of Glendale for the past few years; before coming here she lived at Ocean Park and Hollywood. She is a graduate of both Santa Monica high school and Hollywood junior college. For some time after her graduation she was employed at the Edwards & Wilsey Glendale office.

Mr. Stadt has also been a resident of Glendale for some years. When he first came to California from Iowa he attended the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena. Later he entered business and is now identified with the Glendale branch of Edwards & Wilsey, realtors.

An interesting fact in connection with the happy union of these young people is that their wedding came as a sequel to the marriage, about three years ago, of the bride's sister Gertrude and the groom's brother, J. Milton Stadt.

AN INTERESTING FACT IN CONNECTION WITH THE HAPPY UNION OF THESE YOUNG PEOPLE IS THAT THEIR WEDDING CAME AS A SEQUEL TO THE MARRIAGE, ABOUT THREE YEARS AGO, OF THE BRIDE'S SISTER GERTRUDE AND THE GROOM'S BROTHER, J. MILTON STADT.

GERMANY'S WAY TO BUY BLOCKED

America and England Suffer Most From Germany's Case

BERLIN (By mail).—America and England are suffering because of the inability of Germany to buy and not because of the resumption of her export trade, according to an address delivered by Professor Bonn at a meeting of economic students, bankers and leaders of the industrial world, held to discuss the present situation with regard to reparations.

Germany must export goods worth 3,000,000,000 marks in order to be able to import 7,000,000,000 marks worth, he declared. A moratorium alone as a solution of the present difficulties, he said, would be ineffective, as France can overcome her deficit only by Germany's payments.

The only solution, he said, would be a combination of the moratorium and extension of credits whereby England would waive entirely her reparations claims for three or four years, while in the meantime France would receive from Germany 600,000,000 marks in the form of materials.

France, he said, could waive the other milliard marks she was entitled to receive annually, or Germany could pay part of it through credits obtained abroad.

Under such a scheme, Bonn predicted that in from three to four years Germany could substantially improve her buying capacity, which would consequently improve the economic situation throughout the world.

NEW DE HAVILAND MAKES 150 MILES

Eight Inch Wheel Contact Is One of New Features

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—A new De Haviland plane, secretly built during the past two months at Crissy field, showed a speed of 150 miles an hour.

The new "221" will bring the air mail service, if it is continued, up to a high standard. At this rate of speed, planes of this sort could bring New York one day closer to San Francisco as far as mail goes, experts declare. The plane was constructed under the direction of G. H. Colwell, western air mail chief, and is the last word in speed and comfort.

The new machine makes for additional safety for the pilot by equipment with a parachute. A new radiator shutter is said to eliminate dangers of freezing at high altitudes and below-zero temperatures, and render the machine capable of making top speed in all sorts of weather.

Another innovation is an "8-inch wheel contact" for landing in soft ground and snow. This will make it possible for the plane to take off under such conditions. Usually the wheels sink in deeply, and prevent "taking off."

The San Fernando high school, at San Fernando. The showing made by these 130-pound youngsters against their heavier opponents was nothing short of wonderful, although the San Fernando boys won by a score of 15 to 12.

The Glendale lads are planning to get revenge on the "big fellows" from San Fernando. The return game will be played next Tuesday afternoon on the Glendale indoor court.

If charity that begins at home is the real thing, it soon contracts the travel habit.

OH! MY DEAR—It's positively the most delicious bakers' creation that I've ever tasted! Why, that wonderful Holland Dutch Sugar Bread I bought at the FANCY BAKERY, 142 North Brand boulevard! Mr. Walsma is the originator of the recipe, himself—and it certainly does him credit! This sugar bread is made of the loaf sugar, citron and cinnamon—at least they're the outstanding ingredients of the novelty cake-bread. It is absolutely pure and wholesome—amazingly nourishing, in fact, just the thing to feed the children after school or for dessert at luncheon! You know, so many cakes and things of that sort are too rich for them—but this is so tasty and yet at the same time nourishing—that I consider it the best I've ever run across! Do stop in at the FANCY BAKERY and buy a loaf to take home—I just know you'll enjoy it! The price is only 20c! And, too, you will find the Sunshine Cake, for which the Fancy Bakery has already become famous—perfectly delicious. It is so light and fluffy that I'm always reminded of the wonderful sponge cakes mother used to bake! And with ice cream—yum-yum—it is a rare treat!

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you. No man, or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood; then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a separation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus no longer causing bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and does not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

YOUR WINDOW SHADES, rather than to look the part of a necessary evil, should be an adornment! They should show no shadings, but present a pleasing and inviting appearance from the outside! And that's why I prefer white, particularly in the colonial house! Stop in at 417 East Broadway—LEWIS C. DAVIS FACTORY and salesroom, next time you're out that way—for he designs good-looking window shades not only to fit one's windows, but one's pocket-book as well!

NO MORE TEMPTING REFRESHMENT could you find after an evening of bridge or music than delicious ice cream and cakes. Just call the ELITE SWEET SHOP, 134 South Brand boulevard for they carry always a complete supply of delectable ice creams in all the wanted flavors! Their cakes, too, are simply wonderful! For they are made at Van de Kamp's bakery—the real home-made cakes, containing none but the purest of materials—and perfectly frosted! The Elite Sweet Shop remains open till 10 every evening—so just phone them when unexpected guests "drop in, and they'll deliver the ice cream and cake, yes, and even fresh candies, at any time you wish!

SHOPS—and I show you all manner of lovely things—opening designed just to ensnare the feminine heart! There are beautiful decorations to make one's home more comfortable and livable—the practical electrical appliances of genuine merit, without which no woman should try to keep house—and then, oh! Joy—hats and books and photographs and the little personal suggestions for herself and for birthdays that make life really worth living! The merchants of Glendale have conspired to offer you their merchandise at prices that are mostly "way below those of their city competitors. It is for you to shop at home—buy in Glendale—first, last and always!

RESERVATIONS AT SCOUT BANQUET COMING FAST

Must All Be in by This Evening Committee Says

Practically every known organization or club in the city will be represented at the monster Boy Scout banquet to be held at the new banquet room in the Citizens building on Friday night. Cards bearing the names of the various organizations will be placed upon the tables which they have reserved for their representatives.

Two speakers have been secured to address the banquet. In Stuart W. French, a man of potential influence in California, who is a good talker and a keen thinker, is one. He lives in Pasadena and is a member of the Twelfth regional committee of the Boy Scouts of America as well as being president of the Pasadena scout council.

E. B. DeGroot, scout executive of the Los Angeles Scout Council, is considered a speaker of considerable force and is well known throughout the country as a man of great ability. He will be the other speaker.

Musical Program
Perhaps no finer exhibition of musical harmony has ever been brought together in Glendale than those who will play and sing and entertain at this banquet. William Bode's orchestra will play several numbers during the banquet. Spencer Robinson and Harry Girard need no introduction to a Glendale audience. This is only a part of the program.

Reservations
Many reservations have been received from organizations and bodies for their representatives, but there are still a few of these to them an opportunity to reserve be held from. In order to give their places at the banquet the committee has extended the time one day. It is absolutely essential that all reservations be made by this evening.

TUT, TUT, W. G. SAYS ON CUT IN ARMY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—President Harding frowns on suggestions for reducing the army materially at this time, it was learned officially at the White House today. Harding believes a slight reduction from the present strength permissible, but is unalterably opposed to any drastic cut which would leave the United States without adequate military defense.

Mr. and Mrs. Wise and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Haines, of 212 West Lomita avenue, motored to Long Beach Monday.

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE BOY

Does he, vex you with laughing,
And would you hush his cries?
And would you check the chaffing
And mischief in his eyes?
Be patient, then, till after—
The world has grief enough,
And soon may be no laughter,
Such as may vex you now.

Does he tire you with singing
About the house all day?
And does he fret you bringing
The echoes from his play?
Be patient, then, till morrow,
His youth is not for long,
And Time and Care and Sorrow
May come and hush the song.

And does he storm and clatter
With glides and slides and skips?
And would you hush the chatter
That's ever on his lips?
Be patient, then, with blunder
And all that may annoy;
The days to come—I wonder
Will they not temper joy?

Now is his ardor troubling?
His high soul too much stirred?
And does his spirit's bubbling
Bring the impatient word?
Then wait till Care and Sorrow
May come and have their will,
And haply on Tomorrow
The noises all be still!

DANGER LURKS AT CITY'S RESERVOIR

doubtless be doing more or less damage all along the line. With the five or six million gallons of water pumped into the wash on top of the already swollen stream, it is impossible to picture the damage to Glendale homes and, possibly, lives. It is a situation that is not desired by any Glendale citizen, for the chances are that in such an event, few sections would be left undamaged.

All this may happen if the wash breaks its eastern bank just above the reservoir, where the weak point exists. If it goes over the west side the water would spill over into Casa Verdugo and the northern part of Glendale, carrying destruction with it. In either event the damage could run up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. These disastrous results, it is stated, may be avoided if the situation is handled in the proper manner now.

This naturally brings the question, "Why and how?" The cause of Glendale's reservoir and the city as a whole being placed in such a situation is that the channel of the wash just above the reservoir was filled with sand by the first storm of the recent rainy season. So much sand was carried into the channel at this point that during the rain hardly a drop of water came down the channel, but ran along the wash on the outside of the channel.

At the point in question the channel is from three to five feet above the wash on either side. If it were possible to keep the water in the wash until it gets to this point, which could hardly be done, and should either wall of the wash break at this point, it would be impossible to direct the waters back into the channel, for water naturally runs to the lower level. Unfortunately this "lower level" runs directly against the pile of sand that stands in front of the reservoir. This sand would be carried away in a few minutes.

There is one way of temporarily relieving this threatening situation and that is to remove the sand from the wash at the point above the reservoir. This sounds easy, but it is in reality "some job." It is understood that Emil Fram, who has charge of policing the wash, has requested all teamsters hauling sand from the wash to take it from this particular city. To this request some of the teamsters have responded and they are gradually cutting away the channel at this point. But there are a few who are holding out against the wishes of the city in this regard. The authorities are hoping that they will "come in" in a peaceful manner.

According to a high authority, Glendale has a right to compel teamsters to remove sand from points of the wash from which it is deemed wise to have it removed. This can be done by ordinance. A short time ago an ordinance to this effect was passed by the city council, but when authorities attempted to put it in effect it was found that another ordinance, passed years ago, conflicted with the recently passed law. It was found that the former ordinance would have to be repealed before the new one could be enforced. Repeal of the old measure is now being effected and just as soon as it is done away with the new ordinance will be enforced to the letter.

A point that should be remembered is that the steps contemplated in this matter by city officials are only temporary. Money was voted some time ago by the county for flood control. Of this money, Glendale has not received its share. If officials and influential citizens of this city can pry from those who hold this county flood control money and who have charge of passing it out, sufficient funds to put this wash in a safe condition, they will be doing "some wonderful. Invariably the pupil has his lesson practically perfect and there is no effort manifest toward bluffing, and "flunking" in this school is practically unknown. The classes average between 25 and 30, which is an ideal size. The students in Glendale high are young gentlemen and young ladies. You may say that I am in love with Glendale high. The teachers and all of the scholars have been extremely courteous to me and I will look forward with pleasure to future visits.

HIGH SCHOOL IS GIVEN HIGH RATE

There are 54 teachers in Glendale high school and Mr. Wheat visited all of the instructors. In this way he learned the work of each, and speaks highly of the instructors that Principal G. U. Moyse has gathered around him. They are highly efficient and are producing wonderful results, he declares.

At the present time there are 1172 pupils in attendance at Glendale high school. These are divided as follows: Ninth grade, 439; tenth grade, 285; eleventh grade, 219; twelfth grade, 166; special class, 10; post graduate, 26; part time, 27.

This year's enrollment is 40 per cent greater than last year. At the winter graduation, Glendale high will gain $800 in enrollment and will lose 11. In enrollment Glendale is the 26th largest high school in the state, while the Glendale high school district, comprising La Crescenta, Tujunga, Eagle Rock, Monte Vista, and Glendale, occupied 16th place.

Mr. Wheat complimented the office detail system at the school, saying that it has been very carefully worked out and that Mr. Oliver is taking care of his end of the "game" very efficiently. He emphasized the fact that Glendale high needs larger quarters and congratulates the people of Glendale in being far-sighted and enterprising enough to provide for a new and larger high school that will probably serve for years. The new school will be planned on a very large scale, it being hoped that the entire area of the new site will be needed to care for high school demands before many years have passed.

BARRYMORE GREAT IN LOTUS EATER

"The Lotus Eater," starring that peer of American actors, John Barrymore, and personally directed by Marshall Neilan, has met with unusual success at the T. D. & L. theatre, where it is being presented again today.

Barrymore has such a tremendous following that his name on a film alone guarantees its success, and the same can be said of Director Neilan. But the fact that the story is the work of Albert Payson Terhune and that the titles were written by George Ade, both famous in literary circles, have intensified the demand for tickets.

In addition, the story is one of the most dramatic and original ever produced. Barrymore plays the part of Jacques Lenol, who does not see a woman until he is 25 years of age, due to his father's wishes. During those years he travels the seven seas, never setting eyes on a woman until his 25th birthday. He lands in New York that day, and then begins a series of adventures which are highly entertaining.

The Lloyd Hamilton comedy, "Rolling Stones," offers many amusing situations.

"big trick." They will be benefactors to all the people of Glendale.

HIGH STUDENTS AT LABORATORY TO INSPECT PLANT

Members of Faculty Also Guests Dr. Harrower, Monday

Monday afternoon a big party from Glendale high school which included Principal George U. Moyse and members of the faculty, also students in the senior class, was invited to inspect the Harrower laboratory. The invitation was accepted; the faculty substituting the trip for the regular faculty meeting.

Before they inspected the plant they were addressed by Dr. Harrower in his assembly room on the general plan of work and source of supply for the preparations turned out as well as methods of preparing them.

He indicated that in some instances so great an amount of organic matter must be handled to secure the needed extract that the expense is prohibitive and synthetic methods must be the resort to obtain an artificial product. In other instances the synthetic product is the more expensive.

Dr. Harrower stated that although the plant was started only four years ago, it now has seven auxiliaries in the United States and branches all over the country; that its mailing list numbers 140,000 and does more business with Uncle Sam than all the rest of Glendale combined; that if all the animals in California were slaughtered not enough glands from them would be obtained to keep the plant in operation for even one day; that most of the material used comes from the Wilson laboratories in Chicago which obtains its supply from the Union stockyards in that city.

The doctor also stated that he did not originate the idea, but has simply elaborated it more than any one else has done. His assistant, Dr. Caldwell, declares it is the new physiology, and the great growth of the laboratory is regarded as the best tribute to his work.

All members of the party were much interested in watching the machines which convert the dry powder product into tablets and capsules individually in air-tight wrappings. By this protective means they can be sent into moist countries and still remain in their original dry form. Before passing through this machine the glandular products are dehydrated in ovens.

The party was also impressed with the office equipment which makes possible the maximum amount of efficient work. Machines in the mailing and addressing room were examined, and the laboratory was visited.

CHORUS WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT TO ORGANIZE

All Singers Are Urged to Attend and Join New Organization

It has been finally decided to hold the first meeting of singers who contemplate joining the community chorus, on Monday night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium, when plans will be made for the future operations of the musical organization.

It was originally planned to hold the first meeting one night this week, but due to many other activities in which many singers were participating during the week, Monday night of next week has been named. Several choir rehearsals Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights eliminate those nights as possible for the community chorus gathering.

Every man and woman who sings is invited to be present at the high school Monday night. Married men and single men, women in the same condition are invited. One man who possesses a fine baritone voice asked the music editor if age matters in formation of the chorus. The age limit is from one year to 93 years. Those who are not yet 93 are expected and invited and urged to attend.

The community chorus is to be an organization that will promote music in whatever way it can be done and it will give concerts several times a year. Already there are a number of soloists interested in the plan, and as soon as the chorus is organized.

GRINS AND GROANS

See by the papers Kitty Gordon announces her forthcoming marriage to an American, just as soon, in fact, as she can get rid of her titled husband. We wouldn't exactly say Kitty is a little previous, but we can say she is not leaving anything to the imagination.

"They have a new phonograph." "All right. Let's stay away until the novelty has worn off."

Maybe the reason some people do not go to a chiropractor to have a spine adjustment is because they haven't anything for the said chiro to work on.

"Well, well, Bill, I haven't seen you for years. Do you know where we can get a drink?" "No." "Well, come in here and have a necktie on me."

Anna Gould, whose millions married and later divorced a French count and then married another count, is said to be figuring on counting the second count out and is counting on taking the first count back. It's all right with us, Anna, we don't count anyhow.

Howard—"Every time we have a breakdown I get my wife to keep saying, 'Auto, auto, auto.'"
Jay—"Yes?"
Howard—"And what she says goes."

Glendale's business and professional women displayed the fact at their banquet last night that men are not necessary as bread winners. After all, men win sometimes, too—they win the "one woman," which is better than all the bread in the 'dim-diddled world.

This is a great country, but what we started to say is that we hope the time will come when a man who becomes intoxicated on strong drink will be shunned as much as the man who breaks into and enters a home to rob it of its valuables.

North—"Has Alice any of the old-fashioned virtues?" West—"I suppose so—most of them are."
